Corporate Hospitality & Team Building

eventpod

As companies become more discerning about their hospitality budget, DRIVING AMBITION is the ultimate event to entertain your clients, engage your staff or reward your team.

DRIVING AMBITION provides the thrill, the adrenalin and the excitement and has been designed to capture your guests' imagination. It enables you to spend some quality time with your clients or key staff and also share an incredible experience, either as part of a syndicated day or stand alone event tailored to your company.

Corporate hospitality has never been so much fun. But don't just take our word for it:

Just a quick note to thank you for a fantastic day last Friday. I have attended many corporate events and would have to say that this would be one of the best and the feedback was fantastic! It was particularly refreshing having the full attention of our guests throughout the entire day and getting them out of their comfort zone with the 'adrenalin' flowing behind the wheel of the various vehicles. The instructors were great! Fun, supportive and apart from the rush we learnt some new skills and the 'fun money' also added a new dimension to the day. Hospitality was great and we can't wait to get involved again next year! Metroll
