team building & leadership training

The phones won't stop ringing. The media are banging on the door. And your team are aware of the drama unfolding around them. Your company's critical vulnerabilities have been compromised. You need to act fast and handle the escalating chaos before further damage is done. But how do you handle the real life pressure that is now in front of you? More importantly, what does your team do?

From natural disasters, downturn in market confidence, industrial accidents or the loss of key personnel, the only way you can confidently mitigate your risk, is to ensure your team has undertaken CRISIS LEADERSHIP with eventpod.

As your office becomes the Situational Command Post, our experts made up of former SAS operatives and senior executives - leaders in their field, will mentor you. We will equip your team with the capabilities they require to face any challenge. Employing your company's policies and procedures, coupled with eventpod's MISSION COMMAND leadership tool, we will ensure that in a "live" situation everyone responds appropriately.
